

Folsom Receives Laetare Medal

NEW YORK (NC)—The University of Notre Dame's 1958 Laetare Medal was presented here to industrialist Frank M. Folsom by Cardinal Spellman at ceremonies in the Chancery office.

Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C., president of Notre Dame, read the citation accompanying the award, which the university has presented annually since 1883 to an outstanding American Catholic layman.

Folsom, former president of Radio Corporation of America, is chairman of its executive committee. He and Father Hesburgh are serving as permanent representatives of Vatican City to the International Atomic Energy Agency.
